Client is an UBER driver and leases his vehicle through UBER (Enterprise). He provide his income verification for the period ending Nov 21st income for the week (Fare) at $219.50 less surge fees/tolls/Uber fee for a weekly total earnings of $183.52. His net earnings however reflect the deduction for rental of his vehicle for $183.51 resulting in a net income payout of $0.01. Previously we were told to use the net payout amount as our income and then allow the HH to choose 40% or standard for their expenses. So in this instance do we do the same, if after his earnings he still has some income say $100 and he is claiming 40% we would still allow him a $40.00 deduction or if he claimed actual should we allow him the rental as a deduction which would wipe out his income totally.		NOTE: All requests must have a regulation cite(s) and/or a reference(s). ### 10. REQUESTOR'S PROPOSED ANSWER:

Since he is entitled to claim either his actual expenses or the standard 40%, we should use the net trip earnings of $183.52 and then allow him the deduction of his choice.

11. STATE POLICY RESPONSE (CFPB USE ONLY):

Based on the above scenario CDSS concurs with county's proposed answer.
